

The Weekly Australian Climate, Water and Agricultural Update is your up-to-date source of forecasts and information on climatic conditions, water availability and commodity price movements.

The Weekly Update contains a summary of total and forecast rainfall, temperature anomalies, recent climatic conditions, notable weather events and their impact on agriculture, water storage levels, irrigation allocations, and commodity prices.

The report is compiled using data from a number of sources, including the Bureau of Meteorology, public and private water trading and water data sources, industry and news media.

The report is produced and published online by ABARES each Thursday and incorporates recent, topical events for which there is a need to provide high-quality, timely information.
