Submit a project to Animalplan

Animalplan brings together projects and activities related to production animal health, to create a central source of information, promote collaboration and reduce the risks of duplication.

Project teams and leads can submit proposals for consideration by the Steering Committee, and endorsed projects are added to the Animalplan database. The project leads are contacted quarterly for updates.

Contact the Secretariat to discuss your project idea and identify who to work with to refine it, where appropriate. You can also work with the Secretariat to submit your project to the Animalplan Steering Committee for consideration and endorsement.

Please note that Animalplan is not a direct funding body but does provide national profile, an agreed framework to promote alignment of project activities and a central coordination point.

Animalplan Mid-Term Review

On 18 June 2025, DAFF brought together key stakeholders for a mid-term review of Animalplan. The session gathered representatives from across key government agencies, peak industry groups and non-government organisations involved in implementing Animalplan.

The workshop provided progress updates on key activities, explored emerging opportunities and challenges and offered a collaborative forum to identify practical solutions.

The mid-term review aimed to support the effective implementation of Animalplan by:

- strengthening engagement between key organisations
- broadening stakeholder understanding with Animalplan, its purpose and opportunities
- identifying if Animalplan is achieving its objectives and addressing identified challenges
- exploring any need to amend objectives and activities that may not be achieving Animalplan's intended outcomes

- identifying any gaps to ensure these are addressed where possible, including assigning responsibility to any new activities or actions arising from the workshop discussions.

For more information on the workshop outcomes, refer to the Executive Summary Report.
