

The National Statement on Animal Welfare (national statement) reflects the shared commitment by Australian, state and territory Agriculture Ministers to jointly lead the renewal of the Australian Animal Welfare Strategy (AAWS).

What the national statement is

The national statement was informed by extensive consultation, with oversight by the Animal Welfare Task Group \(AWTG\), and in collaboration between the:

- Department of Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry (DAFF)
- Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water (DCCEEW)
- Department of Health, Disability and Ageing (DHDA).
 - National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC)
 - Therapeutic Goods Administration (TGA).

Why the national statement matters

The national statement identifies opportunities for sustainable improvements to Australia's animal welfare system and sets the vision for the renewed AAWS.

It signals to Australians and international trading partners that national collaboration on animal welfare priorities is a shared goal of all governments.

Supporting case studies

The national statement was published alongside a series of case studies acknowledging the good work already underway in promoting strong animal welfare outcomes across a broad range of animal species and industries. Additional case studies are being developed throughout the development of the AAWS.
