The 2006 Review of the FMD Scheme

A review of the FMD Scheme was completed in November 2006.

The Farm Management Deposits Review was a departmental review which drew upon expert advice, where necessary, and was conducted under the direction of a high-level reference committee, comprising officials from the department and related Government agencies; a representative from the National Farmers' Federation; a representative from the Australian Bankers' Association; and an independent member.

The Review reports on the effectiveness and efficiency of:

- the FMD Scheme in meeting its policy objectives as a tax-linked, financial risk management tool for primary producers, and
- the scheme's administration and legislative framework.
