

If you buy, export, grow, process or sell Australian agricultural produce yourself, or on behalf of another person, you may be liable to pay a levy or export charge.

We collect levies and export charges on behalf of the relevant agriculture industry. The money collected is then disbursed to levy recipient bodies to fund activities that protect and strengthen those industries.

Check if a levy or export charge may apply to your product.

All rate details

The total levy or charge you pay includes components used to fund different activities.

Our list of rates tables shows the breakdown of all levy and charge components.
